Parashas Matos-Maasei The Tacit (Unspoken) Approval

"On Shabbos Parashas Pinchas, Rabbi Gottlieb served as Scholar-in-Residence at a lucky shul in Passaic. Here in Monsey, we had a worthy pinch-hitter, Rabbi Mordechai Kronenberg. He did very well every time he spoke, but I will focus on this occasion on his remarks during Seudah Shlishis.

Tradition reminds us that someone who knows that he is a "Gilgul" of a person (or persons) who exhibited the trait of a "rasha" a wicked person (or persons) should do his best to secure atonement for that person (or persons). Tradition tells us that Pinchas was a "Gilgul" of both Nadav and Avihu. One opinion in the Midrash is that Nadav whispered to Avihu, "When are these old fellows going to die, so that we can take over for them?" And Avihu said nothing. Upon hearing that, Iyov felt a chill. The connection is quite simple; Avihu was guilty of the tacit approval of something quite negative! Avihu had only given tacit approval to Nadav's idea. When Pharaoh had proposed the idea of throwing the baby Jewish boys into the Nile, Bilaam jumped for joy, Yisro pounded on the table, saying "Absolutely not!" thus meriting his great reward, and Iyov fled, saying nothing and signifying nothing, offering only tacit approval.

I mentioned to Rabbi Kronenberg, that there is more support for the "tacit approval" idea at the beginning of Parashas Matos. If a daughter would pronounce a vow, "...and her father heard of her vow...and her father was silent about her, then all of her vows shall stand... If she shall be married to a man and her vows are upon her ...and her husband heard, and on the day he heard, he was silent about her vow - then her vow shall stand..." (BaMidbar 30:5, 7-8) For the father and the husband had given their tacit approval.

There are many views expressed on silence in the Written and the Oral Torah, some pro-silence, some anti-silence, a very few neutral. Since the only speaker in Sefer Devarim is Moshe (except, perhaps, for Yehoshua at the end) I will leave it till next week to record Moshe's views and actions on the subject.

Pro-Silence

Pirkei Avos (1:17): "Shimon, his (Rabban Gamliel's) son says, 'All of my days, I have been raised among the sages, and I have found nothing better than silence; and study is not the main thing; rather, it is the deed, and one who engages in excessive speech, invites sin.' "

Pirkei Avos (3:17): "Rabbi Akiva says, 'A fence around wisdom is silence.' "

Chofetz Chayim: One of the worst human actions is "evil speech." It was one of the primary causes of the destruction of the Second Temple.

Anti-Silence

Haggadah: "And all who engage in much conversation regarding the details of the Exodus, it is much to their credit. The story is told of Rabbi Eliezer, Rabbi Yehoshua, Rabbi Elazar ben Azariah, Rabbi Akiva and Rabbi Tarfon who were celebrating the Seder in Bnei Brak and they were discussing the details of the Exodus all night, until their students arrived and said to them, 'Our Masters, the time has come for 'Krias Shema' of the Morning Prayer.' "

Shemos 4:11: "Then HaShem said to him, 'Who makes a mouth for Man, or Who makes one dumb or deaf, or sighted or blind? Is it not I, HaShem?...' "

Yevamos 87b: "Silence is equivalent to admission."

BaMidbar (30:3): "If a person takes a vow, or takes an oath, to place a prohibition upon himself, he should not defame his words; he should do everything which comes out of his mouth."

Birchos HaTorah: "Blessed are You, HaShem, or G-d, King of the Universe, Who has sanctified us with Your Commandments and has commanded us to engross ourselves in the words of the Torah. Please, HaShem, our G-d, sweeten the words of Your Torah in our mouth and in the mouth of Your People Israel..."

Neutral

Mishlei 18:21): "Death and life are in the hands of the tongue."

The human being is the only creature endowed with speech, on this planet and perhaps in the universe. Since we are created in the "Image of HaShem," we are duty-bound to imitate the ways of our Maker, Whose Seal is Truth, and choose carefully whether to speak, when to speak, and what to say.
